THE KIND THAT WIN OVER TIMBER

The renewal of the Foxhall Keene Challenge Trophy at Radnor on April 8th, drew two teams and a total of 6 riders. The trophy is a fabulous one, standing 3 feet high and having inscribed on it many of the most famous sporting riders of the times, certainly around the Philadelphia area. Originally conceived for teams of hunters, by its donor, Foxhall Keene, it has not been in competition for a number of years. Being one of the most sporting races that is run in amateur racing, it should another year draw teams from more hunts.

The team race is not a new idea but wherever it is held, it makes an excellent race. Usually the winning horse has the lowest points and succeeding horses to cross the line are penalized with additional points, the team having the lowest score winning the race. The importance of such a race is its appeal to honest to goodness hunters, not necessarily of great speed but who are safe conveyances that will finish, although they may not be as fast as the average timber candidate. Team racing will bring on new riders, will encourage friendly competition between hunts and from a spectator angle, keeps everyone on their toes until the last horse has crossed the line before the winner can be announced.

Every point-to-point could well consider team racing in their program as an additional feature. The Foxhall Keene Trophy is a good example and the race this year, won by the Cheshire Foxhounds, left little to be desired from a sporting angle except more teams. If the idea grows, teams from various hunts could have a wonderful time making the point-to-point circuit and incidentally sorting out the best horses to go on into timber racing.

It has been pretty well proven that well made hunters of the safe and sane variety can go on and race at point-to-points without doing themselves or their riders any harm. This is true despite the assertion that so and so's favorite hunter is too good to be entered in a point-to-point. Usually it is because the favorite hunter is not really good enough.

Taking the last 4 Maryland Hunt Cups, where figuratively speaking, only the top timber horses of the country have met since the war, each hunt cup has been won by an absolutely first class hunter that has been carefully schooled and is exceedingly well made. Winton, hunted by Mr. Janney, Peterski, now at stud, but which was beautifully made by that fine horseman George Hudson and is now being hunted by Burling Cocks, as one of the safest hunting conveyances he can find, and Pine Pep, owned by William J. Clothier, which is hunted and often used as a whip's horse with the Pickering Hunt, all made winning Hunt Cup history. Such horses raced at point-to-points and then after proving themselves and their riders, went on to win the most sporting award the country has to offer. None of them injured themselves either by breaking down from speed or busting themselves up over fences. This is not saying they could not have done so, but they didn't.

It was interesting that at last week's Grand National in Maryland, out of 14 horses to start in the big race, 6 were ridden by their owners and during the hunting season make top mounts to hounds. Edward M, which narrowly missed defeating *Done Sleeping after a superb ride by Ben Griswold, is hunted regularly side-saddle by Mrs. Griswold. It is only poorly made horses that are as crazy in the hunting field as they are between the flags, that are dangerous to themselves and their riders over timber. The good hunter, in racing condition, will take no more out of himself than in a good, fast hunt. The Foxhall Keene Trophy, inviting teams from each hunt, points the way for even more hunt competition, in which the best foxhunting horses, make the most successful entrants. These kind fall but seldom. They know instinctively how to take care of themselves, and in the long run they will provide much better, sounder animals for hunt meeting racing than the rogues marked as unsafe and bad mannered in the hunting field. More team racing, more racing of good hunters must inevitably prove the importance of racing only well made horses over timber.

Letters To The Editor

Between Nations

Dear Sir:

It would seem to me that with oceanic transportation what it is today, a really true International Race should and ought to be one where the three great racing countries of the world, England, America and France, have an equal chance, by having such a race run consecutively in their respective countries, like for example the conditions governing the Ryder Cup at golf, which irrespective of who wins is played for alternately in England and America.

Mr. Butler's race being confined to this country does not in my opinion accomplish the above due to the very great differences in the grass courses abroad and the methods of riding over them, as for instance, the English Cambridgeshire; strange as it may seem, it is run up hill for the last furlong or so. Let's see what our great horses and jockeys could do over there against the best of England and France. I also think that the interest in such a race as I have suggested, rather than the existing one at Belmont, would increase tremendously every year, which I do not believe the present one will succeed in doing, as unless the other fellow can have it at home once in three years, his interest in racing for it here every year, always under our conditions, will eventually peter out, as is I believe proved by our not getting England's, Ireland's and France's best over here for it.

Working Towards Perfection

Dear Editor:

Your recent editorial on "Poling" has come to our attention and as horsemen, we would vigorously oppose its practice at any and all horse shows.

In our own club, although we are not owners of either hunters or jumpers, if we should include such classes in our show, this mistreatment would not be allowed on our grounds, much less in the ring.

Our club is one of a State Association which has a membership of fourteen clubs at the present time and at no time at any of our sponsored shows would such mistreatment of a horse be condoned or allowed. Our shows are not limited to club members and all independent participants must abide by our rules and regulations when competing in our shows.

We would agree with you wholeheartedly, that horsemanship is an art which we are constantly striving to perfect and it behooves those of us who wish to put on good, clean shows, to see that such mispractices are not allowed at any time, regardless of exhibitor or exhibitor wishes. If an exhibitor has not the patience to work his horses to as near perfection as possible in preparation for a show without resorting to such maltreatment, then that exhibitor, regardless of who he is, has no place in a show ring.

Yours for good horsemanship and clean sportsmanship.

Velvet Caps

Dear Editor:

In reply to your correspondent, Mrs. Amory Lawrence, 17 March last, who wrote on the subject of velvet caps for ladies, I quote from Mr. Michael Lyne's article in English "Country Life", 24 March last.

"In my first day out in the United States the Field numbered a little more than 50; everyone was extremely well turned out; and I counted 16 scarlet coats.

Silk hats were prominent. Also ladies wearing habits and bowler hats."

I would venture to state that these hunts are much more perfectly dressed than the famous English Quorn Hunt, at the present time. Apart from the Master and hunt servants (in scarlet, well mended and renovated) very few scarlet coats are to be seen, as 25 percent purchase tax brings the cost up to 50 pounds in Saville Row. In meeting high costs of hunting, upkeep of horses, wages to grooms, subscriptions, etc., ultra smartness in the hunting fields of England are in the distant past.

The scarlet coat was originally worn by gentlemen riders to hounds, red at that time being the colour of the Royal Livery. A distinction was made for gentlemen of less important ranks who rode in black coats. Both red and black coats wore silk or beaver hats, with white breeches and coloured top boots. The velvet cap was strictly confined to the Master and hunt-servants. Black coated gentlemen rode immediately behind red coats—farmers, doctors, parsons and others brought up the rear wearing black butcher boots (without coloured tops) and dark breeches. The privilege of wearing the velvet cap was given to farmers. Bowler hats were later worn by both ladies, gentlemen and children. The best dressed horsewomen, however wore a silk hat; others just the bowler.

As children began to learn their riding astride, with the introduction of jodhpurs in a more recent age, the velvet cap took the place of the bowler. Young ladies continued to ride astride and appeared in this style of dress at the meets.

The late Sir Walter Gilbey, himself a great horseman, and expert in the styles of dress for hunting, protested against the encroaching intro-

Tan Coat Wins At St. Louis

Return of Racing In St. Louis Meets Enthusiastic Approval; Colorful Note Adds With Appearance of 4 Coaches

Margaret P. Singer

It has been many years since St. Louis, Mo. has held a hunt race meeting and it is hoped that the newly formed St. Louis Hunt Racing Association will become a permanent annual affair. This first year's meeting was the result of planning by a small group of young racing enthusiasts consisting of five officers: C. Donald Degendorf, pres.; Paul T. Von Gontard, 1st vice-pres.; Lee Kling, 2nd vice-pres.; Willet Watkins, treas.; and last but certainly not least, Adalbert Von Gontard Jr., secretary. Mr. Von Gontard is well known in all St. Louis horse circles, last year being president of the St. Louis National Horse Show Assn., and an excellent polo player.

There were five races scheduled for April 8 and the members and friends had worked very hard to perfect the course over which these races were run. The land chosen had formerly been an old nursery, making the work of the committee quite an undertaking as there were holes to be filled where many trees and shrubs had been removed from time to time. Due to the unusual amount of rainfall this spring, coupled with the many "bobby-traps" in the terrain, made the committee decide to shorten all the races to one-half the distance originally planned.

The Claytonshire Coaching Club trophy was again put in competition after laying dormant these many years. This challenge trophy went to the winner of the Mississippi Valley Steeplechase, the feature timber race, and must be won 3 times by the same owner, not necessarily consecutively, for retirement. The Midwest Association, of which the St. Louis Association has become a member, was represented by A. D. Plamondon III. There were many faces from the old days of steeplechasing and more new ones. Even one of the old horses, which was less than a mile away, must have pricked his ears. This grand old campaigner, Grasslands, is now about 25 years old and is living out his days on the Old Spring Farm property of Mr. and Mrs. Koehler V. Wrape. A colorful note was added with the appearance of four coaches; two from the Claytonshire Coaching Club; August A. Busch Jr.'s coach, and the coach of Harry Burkart.

The first race was the "Farmer's Derby", open to all farmers over whose land the Bridlespur Hounds hunt, horses or mules allowed. It turned out to be all mules and well it might as Missouri has long been known for producing the best mules in the world. Six mules went postward to run a quarter of a mile reminiscent of Keough's poem, quote:

"A ribald shout or a mocking cheer
Saluted each equine vag
And each boy thereon as the bunch went by
On the way to the man with the flag."

Adie Von Gontard won this easily with Ben Wirth's mule, he receiving a trophy and to the owner, $15. John Flanagan was 2nd, also riding a Wirth mule, and Carl Schilling was 3rd on another of Mr. Wirth's good mules. Altogether it was a Wirth race, netting the mules' owner $30 and three very surprised mules. However life in mule racing is not without its compensations evidenced by the fact that each owner received a case of beer for his efforts.

The Clarkson Valley Steeplechase, for amateur ladies, and a timber race, had 4 starters; Marian Gittins on Chris McVeagh's Spatso was the winner; Polly Weil on her Xavier was 2nd; owner-rider Betsy Bennett coming in 3rd on Bradley. Barbara Von Hoffman and her Star Ridge were disqualified.

The half-mile flat race or Kerr's Mill Plate, open to amateur gentlemen, was won by Adolph Orthwein on his good polo pony, Butch, which according to reports, has outrun every polo pony in St. Louis, and it is said there are few who will run against him. A. Von Gontard Jr.

ran 2nd with his Scooter and owner-rider Marshall Buder on Black Coat was 3rd. Dick McDougal came to grief early in the race, falling from Douglas Gross' Dickie.

In the Mississippi Valley Steeplechase excitement for the spectators was the order of the day. This race was about one mile over timber, for gentlemen amateur riders and ridden in silks.

Five started over the very hazardous course and 3 finished. C. Donald Degendorf, riding George McNulty's Gin, came a cropper at the 1st fence and remounting, finished 3rd. Between the 1st and 2nd fences, Paul Von Gontard's girth broke and his Gold Dust ran on trailing the leaders, a nasty fall but the ground being soft he was only shaken up a bit. A very bad ditch, and extremely had going after the first turn caused the remaining horses to pull up to almost a walk. Coming up the hill from the ditch the horses were straining to even canter, sinking deep in the ground with every stride. At the last fence and the stretch it was Gus Buder, the winner aboard his Tan Coat; Tom Dooley III on his

Picture By Cooper Of Ellis Winner Of 1836 St. Leger

The picture on the cover this week is published through the kindness of William C. Hunneman of Philadelphia. It is an excellent example of the work of Abraham Cooper and was acquired for Mr. Hunneman's sporting collection through the efforts of Major Guy Paget in England. It is of the winner of the St. Leger in 1836. The picture was originally given by Lord Bentinck to his trainer, John Doe after Ellis had won the St. Leger.

Abraham Cooper painted many famous horses such as Phosphorous, Amato, Deception, Mango, Camel, Bloomsbury, Galaba, Pussy and a great many of his pictures appeared as illustrations in the Old Sporting Magazine, in fact over 200 of them. He was a self-trained artist, except for some instruction he received from Ben Marshall, but he had made up his mind from early youth to be a sporting artist and as such he won fame and earned a lot of money.

The artist began his career as a whip on a stage coach as did several sporting painters of the period. At the age of 13 he was employed by Astley's Circus managed by his Uncle Davis that was staging mimic battles and pageants. He went on to become one of the most celebrated artists of his day.

Mr. Hunneman's collection of sporting pictures is of the finest quality. He has a set of Alken's, considered to be extremely fine, that are now on loan to the exhibition held in Delft, Holland. This exhibition is on Royal Academy pictures.

Barb Wire to place; and Donald Degendorf on Gin to show. Paul Von Gontard's Fox Croft ran well until the last fence where he refused, throwing his rider, Ludwig Von Gontard who was hung up in a stirrup. Fortunately the horse stood perfectly still at the fence avoiding what might have been a serious accident.

The polo pony race and the last of the day became a match race between Adolph Orthwein's Butch, and A. Von Gontard Jr.'s Brown Wonder, both owners in the saddle. Butch won this with little effort. So ended the first of what is hoped will become annual meetings.

CAMP HOOD HORSE SHOW

Army and civilian personnel contributed the trophies and ribbons and the Camp Hood Texas (Second Division) Horse Show became a 2-day event. Government mounts were used as well as numerous private horses.

Several classes of stock horses, including a Palomino event, interested the spectators accustomed to the hunting and racing events held in the eastern states. The novelty events enlivened the traditional horse show routine.

The smooth and efficient operation of the show was contributed to Capt. Paul M. Wimert, Jr. who officiated as ringmaster. The Second Armored Division band furnished the music during the 2-day show.

GROSSE POINTE JUNIOR SCHOOLING SHOW

The indoor Junior Schooling Show series came to a conclusion at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club at Grosse Pointe, Mich. on April 16. There were 6 such shows held during the season 1949-50 confined to the members of the club, with the exception of the New Year's Day show and open house which was invitational and included entries from the neighboring clubs in Michigan.

About the most important thing in connection with the whole program is the enthusiasm shown by the youngsters. They entered heartily into the spirit of competition and should give a very good account of themselves in outdoor shows this summer. . . . Contributed by Ruth Drake, Chronicle Representative.

NORTH END HORSE SHOW

The horse show season is in full swing in the Maryland-District of Columbia-Virginia section. On April 9 the North End Horse Show was held at Ray's Meadow, East-West Highway, Chevy Chase, Md.

An old timer was on hand to usher in the new season. Fred Hughes' Black Caddy, with his owner up, went up to 5'-0" to win the knock-down-and-out and this class, plus 2 other blues, put him on top as the jumper champion. Oliver Dove's Ranger, another old timer, was reserve.

Ties for championships are well underway and C. N. France's Timbroke won the hunter tri-color on conformation after tying with Mrs. Ray H. Norton, Jr.'s Harkaway. —Contributed by Bruce Fales, Chronicle Representative.

S. A. S. HORSE SHOW

With about 5,000 spectators, 550 entries and 150 horses, the 2nd annual S. A. S. Horse Show got off to a good start for its 2-day show March 18-19. The show, given for the purpose of raising funds for the scholarship fund of the Southern Arizona School at Tucson, Ariz., was the most comprehensive and well rounded horse event to be given in Tucson, according to prominent horse show authorities. Not only is it interesting as a spectacle, its object in providing schooling for deserving boys who otherwise could not have the advantage of this type of education is well worth public support.

Bringing to the Old Pueblo a type of horse that Tucsonians in the past have not been too familiar with, it is different and stimulating to be able to watch the various classes.

Riding to her second consecutive winning of the S. A. S. High Point Rider Award was Miss Suzanne Norton with a total of 43 points. The award this year was a Pariani saddle, given by S. A. S. and presented by Headmaster Russell B. Fairgrieve. Reserve honors went to Cadet Norman Brinker who annexed 33 points, closely pressed by Miss Jane Ralston who totaled 32 points.

Riders who depend too much on their mounts and not enough on their own judgment, ran into trouble in the knock-down-and-out class. The 3rd jump was set on a curve and consisted of a white bar, coop, white bar set such that it was about a 3'-0" span at a 3'-0" height. The appearance was such that it was difficult to notice the span until the horse was over it. Only two riders rode over it without fault, Cadet Brinker and Miss Sally Courson. After the first round, the first element of this jump was removed, which made considerable difference.

With the beautiful setting on the S. A. S. polo field of the horse show ring enclosed by white snow fencing, the watchful mountains looming nearby, the S. A. S. proving an attractive background as it sprawls on the Arizona desert, the hundreds of spectators and exhibitors alike departed at the close of the 1950 show with the feeling of satisfaction at having seen a fine performance. . . . Contributed by Mary K. Hightower, Chronicle Representative.

SQUADRON A HORSE SHOW

Squadron A removed the polo picture from its ring and the horse show moved in for a 2-day show in New York City on April 14-15. Certainly the close of one show season doesn't seem to be very far away when one goes to an early indoor show and sees quite a number of the same people who were on hand when the curtain came down on the big shows in 1949.

In Adrian Van Sinderen's speech at the annual A. H. S. A. meeting in January, he commented on the drop in the number of entries in the conformation division. Entries in this rank at the Squadron A show would indicate that no great number of recruits have been found to remedy the situation.

There is still a great need for someone or some people to sit down, read the F. E. I. Rules and then pass on their information. Many of the horse shows are still at variance as to the interpretation of these rules and the resulting classes are not the best. As an example, the 1st and 2nd horses in the first open class at Squadron A had to jump a total of 40 fences. The 3rd horse had had 3 clean rounds but her rider accepted the ribbon rather than make the 5-year-old go around the ring so many times so early in the show. Miss Peggy Mills started the season well in this division, riding Mrs. Don J. Ferraro's Black Watch to the tricolor and George Fitzpatrick's Party Miss in for reserve.

Squadron A saw the debut of Burton D. Chait's much wondered about Irish import, Splendour. The 5-year-old, 1949 Dublin champion, was shown in only the model class which he won handily. When it came to the championships, the field was predominated by greys. Raymond Burr, showing Mrs. E. O. Smith's Thunderlark for the first time, had early established a commanding lead in points for the conformation championship. The reserve spot was a little more closely contested. However, last year's champion, Past Time, ridden by Owner Mrs. John C. Kehoe, clinched it by placing 1st in the preliminary.

Mrs. Kehoe added another reserve with another grey, *Magno, in the working hunter division. Springs-bury Farm's Virginia entry, Moonlight Bay, had started slowly but ended up very fast and far ahead indeed. Ridden by Miss Georgene Lee, who was making her first show in these parts, the bay gelding chalked up an impressive record.

A note for summer shows—Squadron A's show started on time in spite of a near blizzard which raged Friday morning. People coming from Jersey, Westchester and Long Island all had the same tales to tell—2 1-2 to 3 hours for normal 1-2 hour or 3-4 hour journeys.

Non-showing visitors included Harlan Thiem on his way from Virginia with Mrs. and Miss Thomas whose stable in Montreal he now manages. Robert Egan stopped off on his way to pick up a horse in the Old Dominion. Jo Jo Del Guercio and Tony Wallace had just arrived from Florida on Wednesday previous to the show. Horse Show manager George Ebelhare took a busman's holiday and was on hand to watch someone else work for a change at managing shows.

Like the Secor Farms show, Squadron A was also marked by tragedy Joe Green, who never appears to run out of conversation whether he is winning or losing, received word that his young son, Frank, had died. Changing his clothes and making arrangements to scratch his entry in

Breeding For Show Is A Trade; Some Breeders Have Spoilt A Fine Breed of Dog By Accentuating Show Points

C. R. Acton

I mentioned to one of the village girls that I had been to Crufts and her reply was "What have that lot got that your little terrier hasn't got?", which really strikes me as being the week's great thought.

Indeed should one wish to breed a dog for companionship I cannot conceive of a better one than a small cross-bred terrier, or even a mongrel. However, the majority of the dogs that one sees at Crufts and at other dog shows are bred for other reasons than companionship. Breeding for show is in fact a trade, and whilst I do not wish to say anything derogatory about dog shows, which I very much enjoy, the fact remains that some breeders have spoilt many a fine breed of dog by the senseless breeding for accentuation of show points, rendering them a travesty of their original type and ruining them for characteristics.

If one is keen on hunting one cannot go to a dog show without Peterborough coming to mind. There are those who say that Peterborough nearly ruined the foxhound, but fortunately such Masters as the Duke of Beaufort, Isaac Bell, Malcolm Borwick, Harold Nueeing, to mention a few, saw the red light and saw it in time to save the breed, though not entirely without going outside their own Stud Book.

As long as the standard is that of the true active fox catching machine, Peterborough will remain the greatest possible help to the hound breeder. It was when the judges went for undesirable accentuations of fashion that the show might have been considered to have become a menace.

Work is a necessity for a foxhound, Peterborough now displays the type of animal that is bred with the view to achieving that work in the most efficient way.

One of the greatest characters at Peterborough between the wars was Tom Newman, huntsman to the Duke of Beaufort. Here are two tips on showing that he gave to me—"When I have one first-rate hound and one not so good, I concentrate on the latter. The good one can show himself. I keep moving the other one with a view to disguising any weak point he may have. If his feet are not too good, for instance, I keep him right upon his toes with biscuit; if he is better to meet than follow I keep turning him round towards the Judges, and so on." His second hint: "Never stop showing while you are in the ring. If the judges turn away, keep on at your hounds; ten to one the judges, if they are fly, will look round suddenly to see how the hound is standing naturally. Always keep them up on their toes, looking their best."

Breeding for show frequently entails in-breeding for show points and that accentuation of those show points at the expense of mental characteristics and development. For instance the modern foxterrier of the show bench type is quite incapable of going to ground, which is the purpose for which he was originally bred. Owing to his long legs and long muzzle, which are the results of breeding for accentuation of show points, the wretched animal would be bitten to pieces by a fox, whilst heaven help him if he ever met a badger! Then the show bench Alredale is frequently water shy and he was bred as a water dog originally.

Scottish Terriers, Bedlington, Cairns and Skyes were all designed for sport but the show bench variety of each is very far from its original conception.

Then there is the Bulldog. The Bulldog inherits achondroplastic traits as a breed, and the fact of accentuation of certain show points is leading to a stage with a distortion of the bones would inhibit the functions of the body. This accounts for the plethoric mental attitude of the Bulldog already, and if indulged in further will cause disability and in time cannot but spell the extinction of the Bulldog as a breed.

There are of course plenty of breeds which still conform to the original conception. Gundogs for instance, which have been saved from the entirely show conscious by the excellent rule that they should have field qualifications.

One breed I noticed at Crufts with great interest was a Staffordshire Bullterrier. This breed was only recognized by the Kennel Club in 1935, so it has hardly had time to be spoilt, but there certainly was a magnificent entry of Staffordshire Bullterriers cobby, active, with smiles that were childlike and bland and humorous rolling eyes—but such little devils!

Of course it is quite impossible to get round the whole of Crufts in a couple of days, one comes across a breed one fancies and there one stays! But one saw enough to satisfy one that the Dog Trade of this country is in a very flourishing state and much of that trade is for export. There was a record number of entries and I was pleased to see that a member of a favorite breed of mine won the supreme championship and for the second time running at that. This was Tracy, a 4 1-2 year-old Blue Roan Cocker Spaniel Bitch, owned by H. S. Lloyd of Swakeleys, Ickenham, Middlesex. The crowds packing Olympia tried to mob her as she was parading round the ring, people climbing on to chairs, counters and kennels in an effort to catch a glimpse of her. Her demeanour was perfect.

And finally one small showing incident. A friend of mine recently was shown hounds on the flags and the kennelman had a distinct lisp. On the appearance of one hound the following conversation took place "What's her name?" "Withom." "Withom?" "No! Withom!" "Oh! Withome!" "No! Withom!" "Oh! Wisdom?" "Yes! That's right! Withom?"

Seriousness of Sidebones

Sidebones Interfere With Spread of Hoof and Press Sensitive Part, Causing Pain and Lameness

Broadview

The seriousness of sidebones was brought to light in an address given by Dr. W. J. R. Fowler on March 10, the occasion was one of a series of lectures on horse subjects provided by the Eglinton Hunt, Toronto, Canada.

Dr. Fowler V. S., B. V. Sc., D. V. M., Chevalier du Merite Agricole de France, is internationally recognized as an outstanding authority by the veterinary profession. He has been associated with the faculty of the Ontario Veterinary College for 51 years.

Light horse owners are not usually too concerned about sidebones but the importance of Dr. Fowler's recent research on the subject throws a new light on this unsoundness. Hunters and jumpers may be affected to a hitherto unsuspected extent. X-rays show that an alarming number of cases of lameness attributed to other sources are in reality cases of blind sidebone.

Generally considered an ailment of draft breeds, Dr. Fowler's X-rays have shown that no breed or cross-bred is immune, with the possible exception of the Thoroughbred. To date no Thoroughbred has shown sidebones under X-ray. Cases have been found in Half-bred hunters and jumpers, Standard-bred, Coach and Hackney. As sidebones are definitely proven hereditary, the results of this investigation present a serious situation to the horse breeding industry.

The insidious nature of blind sidebones make X-rays the only certain way of detecting this trouble. Dr. Fowler recommended that any person considering the purchase of a valuable animal would be well advised to go to the small additional expense of X-rays for the assurance that the prospective purchase was free from this unsoundness. He indicated that if no signs of sidebone were present in a horse over 5 years that it would be unlikely to develop later. Sidebone may affect one or both sides of both front feet. He has never encountered a case of sidebone in the hind feet in Canada, but a skeleton imported from France by the Veterinary College had eight prominent sidebones affecting both sides of all four feet.

The detection of sidebones in the past has been limited to the rigid, bony feeling of the bulbous heel above the hoof which normally should be pliable cartilage which will spread with the heel as the weight is put on the hoof and so helps absorb concussion. This cartilage extends not only above the hair line of the hoof but down into the hoof itself. When this cartilage becomes rigid at any place, it interferes with the spread of the hoof with the result that it presses or pinches the sensitive part causing pain and lameness. If the sidebone grows straight up it may have more room and may not cause lameness as early. If it angles outward or inward, trouble is sure to ensue for the wall of the hoof is very thin at this point and it will cut like a knife.

Dr. Fowler estimated that a horse possessing sidebone might be expected to show lameness within about six months. The disposition of the sidebone itself and the work the horse was doing would appear to govern to some extent the period which might pass, however, before trouble would follow.

The Ontario Veterinary College has been experimenting in treatment of sidebones and has shown satisfactory results in some cases. The method is to encourage the growth and spread of the hoof in an attempt to give the offending sidebone more room so it will not pinch the sensitive part. A hunter under treatment for six months has added 1-4 of an inch to the width of its heels and is now going sound.

Successful Season Brought To Close By Buckram Beagles

Buckram Beagles had its closing meet for 1949-50 on March 26 after a successful season. The weather was favorable for the most part, and there were several exceptional days with long runs and good scenting conditions.

We were honored by the Sandanona Beagles who came to hunt our country, and we had excellent sport in the Sandanona, and Treveryn countries, and at Columbus, N. J. where our hounds met by invitation during the past hunting months.

As a conclusion, the fifth Buckram Point-to-Point was run on Sunday, April 2, for the Buckram Challenge Cup, donated by Thomas J. Hollowell, Jr.: the cup to be the permanent possession of the man winning it three times, not necessarily in succession.

The men's race was started from the entrance to L. E. Stoddard's, (Wheatley Road, Old Westbury), the course extending as the crow flies, over 4.7 miles of hunting country, with the finish at the Old Kennels, Muttontown Road, Syosset.

The women's race was started at the corner of Cedar Swamp Road and Fruitledge Road, and picked up the men's course through to the finish, for a distance of 2.7 miles.

Both races were started at 3:00 P. M.

The weather was sunny and warm and the footing good, and a breeze favored the runners all the way. Eight started in the men's race which was won by John L. Eyre, handicap 2 min., 30 sec., time 46 min., 30 sec.; 2nd; Joseph B. Connolly, handicap 2 min., 30 sec., time 50 min., and 3rd Cecil Grace, handicap 3 min.; time 52 min., 30 sec. In addition to a leg on the Buckram Challenge Cup, the winner was awarded a prize for the best gross time.

The women's race was won by Jessie M. Pennoyer in 24 min., 10 sec., running from scratch; 2nd Katherine E. Pennoyer, handicap 3 min., who finished in 36 min., 40 sec., and 3rd Sarah White, handicap 3 min., whose time was 40 min., 44 sec. There were 7 starters.

The winner of this race also took a prize for best gross time.

Both the winners of the men's and women's races this year, won their races in the Buckram Point-to-Points last year.

Renfrew Farm Junior Hunter Trials

Morris Cheston's Midgie Wins Renfrew Farm Plate; Miss Hamilton Wins Special Prize For Top Horsemanship

Polly Miller

An indescribable compound of informality, charm, youthful competition and sameness brings the many friends of the W. West Fraziers and the Whitmarsh Junior Hunt to the Renfrew Hunter Trials year after year. You know your favorite parking spot is waiting for you on the hilltop overlooking the outside course, you count on Mr. Frazier's genial greeting, complete with pipe in corner of mouth, and Mrs. Frazier's charming hospitality at lunch where you look forward to chatting with the judges. This year it's Miss Ellie Wood Keith who has come up from Charlottesville to cast her practiced eye over the competitors at Roxborough, Pa.

The horses and ponies are as good friends of yours as the people—you've known many of them for years, and want all of them to win. Not even bad weather would keep you away—and this year it was plenty cold and raw around Philadelphia considering the date, April 8, and you was just as sentimental over the young fry of 10 and 11 attempting the handy hunter course for the first time, with parents momentarily tense or expostulatory along the fence line, as you do over the 18 year olds whose top rate performances over the trappy outside course must be their last.

You are glad to see such favorites as Morris Cheston's Midgie, Miss Sally Deaver's On Relief, Miss Angie Hamilton's Gray Coat and Miss Nancy Wear's Bramble carry off the blues, to say nothing of Mr. Frazier's The Puppet, now famous in Virginia hunting circles as well as Pennsylvania, accounting for several blues when generously loaned to a couple of young friends for the day. That mare is fast becoming an institution. You get a great kick out of the chestnut and white skewbald hunt team. There are very few spotted ponies in the Whitmarsh Valley, especially with chestnut and white markings, so it was most fortuitous for the Misses Nancy Ingersoll and Nancy Wear when Miss Mary Helen Paxson of Huntingdon Valley fame, turned up with Saucy Sue to make the perfect third for Yankee and Bramble. They made a pretty sight.

You are particularly happy that Midgie, Morris Cheston's game and consistent pony mare, joins the Renfrew Trials immortals in being awarded the Renfrew Farm Plate for the best child's working hunter, and that Miss Angie Hamilton's painstaking work over the past couple of seasons brings her the horseman's prize.

You pull away from the hilltop satisfied with the day and the knowledge that there will be another just like it next year.

Cheshire Hounds Hunt Team Retires Fairfield Farm Plate

Cheshire Hounds Hunt of the late W. Plunket Stewart retired the Fairfield Farm Plate for hunt teams at the 14th annual Rose Tree Hunt Hunter Trials held April 1 near Media, Pa. The winning hunt team this year was made up of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Hannum III and Mrs. John C. West and marked the third consecutive victory for Cheshire.

William Frantz, who has traveled quite a bit on the show circuit, settled down in his home territory to top the class which was competing for the Crum Creek Trophy. The 16-year-old junior rode Brown Light over the 20-jump course to receive the nod from the judges.

Mrs. Hannum chalked up quite an array of ribbons as she also rode her Farm Belle to annex the blues in the ladies' trophy event and the Rocky Spring Plate. Farm Belle has shown her versatility by being among the Pennsylvania point-to-pointers this spring as well as participating in hunter trials.

The hunter trials were preceded by a colt show which was scheduled for the first time this year.

the jumper stake (now in the ring). Joe was ready to leave when he found that the next plane wouldn't leave for an hour. Having to do something to pass the time, he rode in the stake.

Silver Horn, the horse which went abroad to join the last U. S. Army Team, died during the Squadron A show and word came that Silver Horn's civilian rider, Gordon Wright, had had to return to the hospital.

In spite of the unforeseen events which have somewhat marred the new show season, exhibitors, riders, etc., look forward to much brighter prospects during the year. . . . Contributed by Tanbark, Chronicle Representative.

TORONTO JUNIOR SHOWS

Canada continues to forge ahead with its promotion of junior riders. On April 8 the hitching ring section of Maj. Clifford Sifton's arena in Toronto was crowded with 50 horses and ponies. Pony classes, though not large, show that pony interest is there to stay. Efforts in the past to encourage hunter type ponies have been rewarded and the ponies are showing great improvement in their jumping.

Jack Pady's Toby was pinned champion pony ahead of Mrs. Brokenshire's Sonny Boy, ridden by Miss Lois Bloom.

On the lighter side, the bareback costume class was good fun. Miss Lois Bloom as "Pocohantas" on the Sunny Boy was the public's choice. Miss Janet Rough as "Stinky the Skunk" was the most original and Miss Sue Buck as a knight in armor was the most elaborate. Miss Sandra Powell on Rocket's Flicka won the bareback jumping.

The purpose of the show was to raise funds to send a Toronto Team to the Inter-City Pony Club Rally in Montreal in June.

Glen Mawr Stables at York Mills, Ontario was where a second Toronto Junior Horse Show was held on April 15. The proceeds of this show also went toward sponsoring the Toronto Team.

Five events for equitation were carded and all presented stiff competition. The feature event of the show was the highly coveted Corbet Cup for open equitation. The judges required over an hour for this event. The big ring was crowded with good riders, so half the class was put through the paces, selections made and the other half (about 20 youngsters) were given a go. More than a dozen were retained for the final judging. The nod went to Miss Marilyn Hawman.

The majority of youngsters who exhibit at these junior shows rely on renting livery horses and there were many nice looking and well turned out horses. However, there were 21 entries in the owners up class. . . . Contributed by Broadview, Chronicle Representative.

Hill Prince's Wood Victory Proves That the Man Handling A Horse Knows More About Him Than People Watching

Joe H. Palmer

It is a consolation to be right now and then, and if it happens seldom it's all the more pleasant. For a week Hill Prince's race in the second Experimental Handicap was discussed, along with Middleground's defeat behind My Request. The argument here was that Hill Prince's race was completely meaningless, and that he might as well have stayed in his barn for all the second Experimental told us, and that Middleground ran a big race when he gave as good a horse as My Request weight by the scale and still finished close to him.

The Wood Memorial on last Saturday justified both notions. Hill Prince went farther than he had ever gone before—he was blocked in the Experimental No. 2 and didn't get to run—and he did it in a very convincing way. He went on to work out a full 1 1/4 miles in 2:02 and a fraction, and that's probably good enough to win the Derby. He also set a few voluntary trainers back. He's been working hard, and a good many bystanders were a little critical of the way J. H. Hayes was handling him. Hayes has insisted that he is a colt which thrives on work, and he was certainly on proper edge for the Wood. The suspicion that the man handling the horse knows more about him than people who are just watching was intensified.

Middleground, though beaten 2 lengths, ran almost as well. He had the extreme outside post position, and he ran on the outside all the way, coming around the final turn outside three horses. He must have run at least 2 lengths farther than Hill Prince, and if the luck of the draw in the Derby should put him on the inside he might switch the placings. Ferd, Mrs. Andy Schutinger's Lochinvar colt, ran pretty well to be 3rd, but he's not a Derby nominee. As far as I could see, nothing else in the race showed enough ability to be worth a trip to Churchill Downs. Next Move, the Vanderbilt filly which finished 4th, ran a fairly good race, but I don't think she's up to fighting the colts.

Last winter, in some notes on the performance of the dams of the leading 2-year-olds, it was stated that Hill Prince's dam, Hildene, did not race. This was a flat mistake. She did not race at 2, but at 3 she ran 8 times, finishing 3rd once and earning $100. As I got the story, she showed some little promise, even with so many defeats, but she bled after a work and was retired for that reason. As you probably know, she has three foals currently racing, and on one day at Jamaica all three of them were out. The one you know about, aside from Hill Prince, is the stakes winning sprinter Mangohick. The other is a 2-year-old named First Flush. She has run twice, ridden both times by an apprentice, Robert Judy. Both times he had trouble getting off with the filly, and has come out of the gate in difficulties, with the result that she got so far back there was no hope. If Judy would get a handful of mane a little farther up on her neck she might do much better.

The muddy track on April 21 produced an unexpected winner in P. A. Markey's Piet, which if you don't recall is pronounced "Pete," being in fact a foreigner's attempt to spell "Pete." In a letter to Peter Markey. It was Piet's first start in 1950, and though he was a stakes winner in all of his three earlier seasons, he was allowed to get off at better than 22 to 1. He is a son of Grand Slam, which also was fond of mud. Grand Slam got left at the post in the Arlington Futurity of 1935, and that probably won the race for him. The track was muddy, and the other horses were being kept carefully out from the rail, where the going was presumably deeper. So, with nothing to lose, Grand Slam was put on the rail in the worst mud, and he ran past the field to win comfortably. Piet's maternal grandsire, Blue Larkspur, could handle mud too, though he lost the Kentucky Derby in it.

Another sire whose get are supposed to like mud is Count Fleet, and on the same day two of his 2-year-olds won. The first of these was Brookmeade's Atalanta, a first starter. She beat only a field of maidens, but she did it by 5 1/2 lengths, and since she is out of one of the better Brookmeade mares, Omayya, there's a chance she'll amount to something.

The other one was Count Turf, owned by Jack Amiel. He did not win by as much, and in fact he won only after a fairly desperate struggle with Bugledrums. But he ran his 5 furlongs in :59 4-5, which would have been good on a dry track and was sensational in the mud. He's won 2 and lost 2 in his first 4 starts.

Another 2-year-old which shows promise is Belair's Happy Devil, a son of Devil Diver—Happy Gal, a mare which has had some rather persistent winners, but nothing of any real quality. Happy Devil was unplaced in his first start, and in the next two he ran into two of the speedier youngsters at Jamaica, Bank Account and Lockout, both of them by Shut Out, which used to run coupled with his sire. Happy Devil was 2nd in both of these races, and he got his first victory in his fourth start, a maiden race on April 20. He was backed down to 4 to 5 and ran like it, winning easily by a couple of lengths and running 5 furlongs in sloop in 1:00 2-5.

Picking 2-year-olds at this part of the season, when they flash and fall back, is a mischance procedure, of course. But this observer, having conceived a considerable affection for Devil Diver when he was racing, has a rooting interest in his get, and Happy Devil will consequently be watched with interest.

Racing At Tanforan

Allotment of Weight To Citation and *Noor In Tanforan 'Cap Brings Up Ever Present Controversy On Handicapping

Aidan Roark

I suppose the eternal quibbling about weights will go on till the end of time, but there are times, and it seems they are becoming more frequent, when fairness and good sportsmanship play a small part in the controversy about the weights assigned a horse in this or that race. Some owners and trainers have a tendency to sing the ancient anthem of the beaten prizefighter "I wuz robbed" at the slightest provocation and, more often than not, without provocation. The prizefighter, however, has this much in his favor, he warbles his mournful dirge after the event, which is quite different from what usually happens in racing circles. Here we find a few owners and trainers, fortunately a very few, who don't wait to see what the outcome will be, but raise the cry "I wuz robbed" long before they have lost anything, unless it be their temper and sober judgment.

What brought the above mild flush to our cheeks is the report from Tanforan that there is some dissension about the weight allotted Citation in the Tanforan Handicap, a race which comes up for decision a few days from now. The Calumet trainer is quoted as being a bit peeved about the 132 pounds given Citation and the mere 124 given *Noor. Of course, it is quite possible that Jimmy Jones has not been correctly quoted and I shall go along with that belief until there is evidence to the contrary. However, if his displeasure is correct, it is very difficult to see why he is upset about the weights. Let's take a look at the record. Citation and *Noor met three times at Santa Anita. They met first in the 1 1/8 San Antonio. Citation shouldered 130 pounds and *Noor 114. Ponder won this race from Citation by a length, but Citation was 1-2 length ahead of *Noor. Then they met in the 1 1/4 Santa Anita Handicap, with Citation carrying 132 pounds to *Noor's 110. Here *Noor beat Citation by 1 1/4 lengths, and in so doing set a new track record of 2:00 flat.

Considering the time, the 22 lbs. he gave away and the short margin by which he lost, this was certainly a wonderful effort for Citation. A week later they met again in the San Juan Capistrano at 1 3/4 miles, with Citation toting 130 pounds and *Noor having 117. After a tremendous race and a grueling stretch drive, *Noor got the nod by an eyelash, but only in the very last stride of a torrid duel which left the spectators starry-eyed and definitely damp under the collar.

Now in looking over the result of these three races there can be very little doubt in anyone's mind that there was not very much wrong with the handicapping. On the contrary, it appears that the weights assigned both these great horses were as near perfect as it is possible to make them. They met three times over different distances and never finished more than 1 1/4 lengths apart. I should say that is very fair weighting anyway you look at it.

This brings us back to the question of the weights for the Tanforan Handicap and the thought that Citation may have been harshly treated. He is set to carry 132 pounds against *Noor's 124. The last time they met there was a spread of 13 lbs., yet they finished so close that only the camera could separate them. Now they meet at 8 pounds difference.

Training Race Horses

Horses Are Individuals; Treat Them As Such; Follow Dictates of Your Common Sense In Training Horses

Godfrey S. Preece

I have been asked to give my opinion on "How To Train A Race Horse To Run and Win Races." To begin with if a horse can run all that is then needed is the exercise of good common sense in his preparation, a good jockey, good help to take care of him, good feed and good luck. Naturally, a good deal of the latter is very important.

As for the horse, if he can't run to begin with, no power on earth can make him. There are certain tricks of the trade, as it were, which will enable you to improve on a horse, but if he didn't have something to begin with all those tricks, all the knowledge in the world would be no help to him.

I always believed that knowledge was indispensable in any business, even training race horses, but when I look around me and see some of the people enjoying success as trainers I am beginning to weaken on that idea. I say this without bitterness, but it is absolutely impossible for some of these fellows to know much about horse racing. They haven't been around long enough, investigated the business thoroughly enough, but they continue to win races.

Of course, you will find the answer to their success in some capable groom or exercise boy who advises them. The trainers I have in mind train the owners, not the horses who run in their names. That task is tended to by the aforementioned groom or exercise boy.

Nor do I exaggerate. Before I sat down to write this piece I checked the charts of the day's racing at the major race tracks. It is not necessary to go into detail, but they reported that ex-chauffeurs, taxi cab-pilots, butchers, bakers, cooks, actors, auto salesmen, tie salesmen, waiters, barbers, carpenters, icemen, bartenders, pop corn merchants, trolley car conductors, lawyers, and college graduates were enjoying success as trainers.

Many of them have saddled horses to win important stakes races. Many of them would be about as much at home on the back of a horse as the average stenographer taking her first riding lesson at some suburban riding school. If it would contribute something more to racing than just the needless embarrassment of the people involved, I could give a name, some of them well-known in racing, for every type of job or profession I have outlined above.

Don't misunderstand me. Some of them have worked hard and studied hard to learn about horses. But more of them haven't. More of them are trainers in name only. As I said before they train the owners, the groom or exercise boy trains the horses.

However, he who would be successful as a trainer on his own must be able to look at a horse and tell whether he is built to run, whether he is worth the money being asked for him. There are certain fundamentals, of course, in the selection of horses whose conformation suggests that they can sprint, that they would be better over a route. But every outstanding horseman will tell you of the time that he bought a horse who could be faulted on fundamentals just because there was something about him that suggested that he could run, that he was worth the money. In other words, it is the sum total of the impression that the horse makes on you which should help you make up your mind about him.

When training horses I always thought that it was wise to buy when the opportunity presented itself to get a bargain. As it is customary for horsemen to school their 2-year-olds in the paddock before the day's races, I have always made it my business to look them over when ever I have had time. One day at Tropical Park I chanced to watch three 2-year-olds school and while I was watching them I was informed that the man who had them wanted to get rid of them.

Naturally, I looked them over closely. They had quality, they were sound and they obviously had good manners. So I found their owner, wrote out a check and the horses were on the way to my barn before the day was over.

When I went by the barn where they were stabled to take delivery on them I noticed that their hay racks were overstuffed with hay. Honestly, there was enough hay in each rack to feed an elephant. Or so I thought, at any rate, because it was stacked to the ceiling of the stall in each case and was about six inches off the floor.

Hay is a filler and is fattening, of course, but the law of diminishing returns dictates the amount of good you can expect a horse to get from it. So the first thing I did after putting them away in my barn was to cut the amount of hay fed these three animals to about the amount you might feed a goat.

Naturally, a lot of my friends, fellow trainers, came by to look at the horses I had purchased. Some of them noticed the small amount of hay that I was feeding them and offered the criticism that I wasn't giving them enough. Being a stubborn man, I thanked them for their advice, and continued to do what I thought best, which was to feed them only a small amount of hay.

Seven days later I was ready to run them. They had already schooled out of the Starting Gate before I had purchased them. Looking over the Condition Book for that part of the meeting at Tropical Park, I could find no maiden races for them and so I picked out a condition race for them. The entry clerk said that there were so many entries in the race that it would probably be split three ways and so I gave him the three horses and told him to enter them, as he saw fit, one in each split.

The rest is history for the three of them, maidens all, won. I have been told since, that this was a World's Record training feat. The date, in case the facts are ever challenged, was March 26, 1935 at Tropical Park.

Before I give the names of the horses, however, let me say that three days later I entered two of them and they won again. Four days later I entered two of them and they again won. This makes 7 victories in 9 days for 3 horses purchased as maiden 2-year-olds and one of the races happened to be the first running of the Viscaya Stakes at Tropical Park.

Ned's Affinity, the dam of Clyde E. Buckley's Big Ike, the recent winner of the Arkansas Derby, was the mare which won the Viscaya Stakes for me. She was also the dam of the good winner, Nowadays.

Another of the record breaking trio was Ned's Vive, mother of the stakes winner, Miss Kimo. The third was Chic Ship but she never produced a foal worthy of mention. She was a half-sister to the Preakness winner, Dauber.

Ned's Affinity was a problem to train because of the condition of her feet, but I'll tell you more about that later. The point I want to make in this installment concerns common sense. It was nothing more than a "hunch," which is another name for common sense, that told that my three purchases couldn't help improving if I took some of the hay, fattening food, away from them, and the results obtained bore out the acuteness of my observation.

Of course, it isn't always as easy as that, but the thing to remember

Derby Roundup

Lotowhite's Effort In Experimental No. 2 Was Impressive; Two More Races To Decide Favorites For Kentucky Derby

Frank Talmadge Phelps

The already wide-open aspect of the first Kentucky Derby under Bill Corum's supervision was increased rather than lessened by the result of the Experimental Free Handicap No. 2. The Jamaica feature, which was supposed to confirm the form exhibited by Hill Prince in the Experimental No. 1, ended in a surprising 4 1-2 length victory for Lotowhite, which paid off his few backers at $37.90 in the mutuels.

So far as Hill Prince is concerned, however, the result can be forgotten. Christopher T. Chenery's home-bred colt stumbled at the start; was pulled up sharply in a jam approaching the first turn; banged into the fence about 5-16 from home and caromed off into Lights Up; and, before he could regain his balance, had to be snatched up again when Guillotine stopped very suddenly in front of him. It would have taken Man o'War and Citation combined to make any sort of showing after that battering; and Jockey Eddie Arcaro wisely did not persevere with Hill Prince.

About all that the Experimental No. 2 proved is that Guillotine can just about be written off, so far as the 3-year-old classics are concerned. Greentree Farm's home-bred colt stamped himself as a very decided sprinter—a not entirely unexpected development, but nevertheless a bit strange, in view of his breeding.

Guillotine is by Bimelech—Blade of Time, by *Sickle. Bimelech himself won the Preakness and Belmont. Although most of his get prefer 1 1-16-miles events, some of them could go the Derby distance of 10 furlongs—notably Be Faithful, Better Self and Burning Dream. The latter is closely related to Guillotine, whose second dam, Bar Nothing, is a half-sister to By Mistake, dam of Burning Dream.

On the other hand, Guillotine's full brothers Bymeabond and Blue Border were not much more than good sprinters. Bymeabond's ceiling was 9 furlongs, and Blue Border turned in his best performances at 1 1-16 miles or less. Guillotine has yet to prove he can do as well.

Despite all the excuses that may be made for Hill Prince or any other horse, Lotowhite's effort in the Experimental No. 2 was impressive. His time of 1:44 3-5 for the 1 1-16 miles was only a tick from the event's record, set last year by Olympia. Of course, Lotowhite was carrying only 107 pounds.

Lotowhite, however, may have something to say about the Derby result. The Hal Prince Headley colt, named because of his white legs, is a son of Devil Diver—Loto-poise, by Equipoise. He is a member of the first crop of Devil Diver, a better handicap horse than he was classic performer. But there is no doubt about Devil Diver's ability to run a route.

Devil Diver is a son of *St. Germans. The Triple Crown victor Assault is by Bold Venture, another son of *St. Germans; and is, like Lotowhite, from an Equipoise mare.

Lotowhite was beaten 6 lengths in the Flamingo Stakes by Oil Capitol, while in receipt of 15 pounds; and finished a head in front of Theory. Thus the result of the Experimental No. 2 makes both Oil Capitol and Theory look even better than they had before.

Sturdy One, the show horse in the Experimental No. 2, fell 6 lengths short of the major share of the purse. In the Santa Anita Derby, Your Host held Sturdy One off by only 2 1-2 lengths. That does not is to follow the dictates of your common sense when training horses. Horses, as has been pointed out over and over again by everybody who has ever written on the subject, are individuals. Treat them as such.

look too promising for the California contingent, although it should be added that Your Host probably could have extended his Santa Anita Derby margin.

On the same Saturday that Lotowhite was upsetting the dope bucket at Jamaica, a pair of Brookmeade Stable colts were doing the same thing, with a somewhat less resounding splash, in the Chesapeake Stakes at Havre de Grace. Greek Ship and Sunglow, which had run one-two the Louisiana Derby, did the same thing at the Maryland oval, but in reverse order.

Greek Ship, a $23,000 yearling bargain at Keeneland, has been regarded as a definite Derby threat in this corner ever since his new Orleans triumph. This opinion was based more on the promise of pedigree than on the brilliance of performance. Bred by Harrie B. Scott, the Brookmeade standard-bearer is by *Heliopolis—Boat, by Man o'War. That makes him a full brother to Noble Hero and a half-brother to Rampart. Moreover, his dam is a full sister to War Flower, dam of Ace Admiral.

Sunglow is a son of Sun Again—Rosern, by Mad Hatter; and cost $8,000 at Keeneland. Bred by Mereworth Farm, he is a half-brother to Lancastrian, which captured the Pimlico Spring Maiden Steeplechase; to the stakes-placed Discerner, Rose-Red and Active; and to Rosemary, dam of the stakes-placed Rosemite. Sunglow's dam is a half-sister to the English Triple Crown winner Gainesborough.

Sun Again, Sunglow's sire, was a middle-distance performer; his ceiling was 1 3-16 miles. But his best get, particularly Wistful and Palestinian, have shown a decided taste for more ground. Wistful was, until she went wrong; the best 3-year-old filly of last season; and Palestinian would have to be ranked just behind Ponder and Capot among the colts.

Sunglow prefers a dry track; while Greek Ship likes a wet surface, though he can run on a fast track, too. Thus Brookmeade seems rather well prepared for anything the changeable Kentucky weather may produce on Derby Day.

King Ranch's home-bred Middleground needs more racing before anything much can be said about his Derby prospects. His first two outings this year have been promising but not positive.

First, last season's Hopeful winner was beaten 1-2 length by Ferd, a speedy sprinter (and non-Derby eligible) which stepped the 6 furlongs in a sharp 1:11 4-5. Six days later Middleground tackled a field of older horses at 1 1-16 miles. By scale the King Ranch colt was yielding 6 to 18 pounds to the rest of the field; but he finished 2nd, beaten 1 1-4 lengths by My Request while holding 5 lengths on the 3rd horse.

It will be recalled that Capot began his 1949 campaign by running 2nd to Buzzfuz in a similar handicap.

Middleground is by Bold Venture—Vergenza, by Chicaro. His third dam, Lace, took the 1929 Ladies Handicap. Bold Venture has sired the American Triple Crown victor Assault and the Mexican Triple Crown winner Re-Torta (the latter, like Middleground, from a Chicaro mare).

The Wood Memorial, to be run before this reaches print, may provide a better idea of Middleground's Derby possibilities. It will also furnish another meeting between Hill Prince and Lotowhite. The Blue Grass Stakes on Keeneland's closing day is expected to attract Oil Capitol, Your Host and Theory, among others. After those two races, we should know about as much about the Derby candidates as can be known before the actual Run for the Roses.

Farm to Farm

Brookmeade's By Jimminy Will Stand In Kentucky; Star Beacon's Pedigree and Current Crops Not To Be Overlooked

Sidney Culver

BROOKMEADE FARM

Virginia's loss will be Kentucky's gain when By Jimminy, a son of *Pharamond II—Buginarug, by Blue Larkspur, is moved from the Old Dominion to the Blue Grass State. As he is one of the best young stallion prospects in the east, it is with fond regrets that we bid him adieu, and console ourselves with the fact that he will have several crops to race out of mares from this area, which should bring a certain amount of success and glory to their owners, if his first crop is any criterion of what the rest of them will be like.

All the By Jimminys either won or placed as 2-year-olds in 1949, and two of them have gone on to win as 3-year-olds this year. This pattern follows By Jimminy's own racing record, as he won the Grand Union Hotel Stakes at 2, was 2nd in the Albany Handicap, and Pimlico Futurity (beaten a 1-2 lengths by Platter, on a muddy track), and he was 3rd in the Hopeful and Richard Johnson Stakes. By Jimminy was the leading 3-year-old colt of 1944. His stakes wins include the Shevlin (defeating Stir Up and Stymlie); Dwyer (1 1-4 miles, led all the way); Travers, American Derby, and Lawrence Realization. From 21 starts, as a 2-year-old, he was victorious 9 times, was second 4 times, and third 3 times, earning a total of $181,120.

By Jimminy was bred by the late Col. E. R. Bradley, was syndicated, and first saw stud duties in 1946, at which time he entered Walter P. Chrysler's North Wales Stud in Warrenton, Va. He was acquired by Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane at the time of the North Wales dispersal and has been standing at her Brookmeade Farm in Upperville, Va. At the conclusion of the 1950 breeding season, he will be shipped to Harry B. Scott, Jr.'s Shandon Farm, in Lexington, Ky.

By Jimminy has an exceptionally good crop of 2-year-olds coming up for 1950 racing. Three of these were outstanding at the Aiken Trials, where horses are raced for the sport itself. In these trials Bold and Dutch Lane each won a quarter mile heat in :23 2-5, and Safety garnered a 3rd in his try-out. Bold, Dutch Lane, and Safety look very much alike, even to a birth mark that each one has at the point of his right shoulder, and the three of them resemble By Jimminy.

The yearlings at Brookmeade are as an impressive a group as can be seen anywhere, both as to breeding and as to growth. Not the least outstanding is a bay colt by *Bull Lea—Grand Flame—she the dam of Grand Admiral, which was a very good race horse, and is a sire at Brookmeade at the present time. Some of the others in this select group are a gr. f. by *Mahmoud, ch. c. by Whirlaway (half-brother to stakes winning Safeguard), br. f. by *Blenheim II (half-sister to stakes winner Chains), ch. c. by Grand Admiral (half-brother to stakes winners Pomayya, Dare Me, and Dart By), br. c. by Unbreakable—Princess Alice—she the dam of many good ones including the stakes winner, The Heir; b. c. by By Jimminy (half-brother to two stakes winners, Great Power and Going Away), b.

f. by Menow (sire of Capot), out of Sun Mixa, by *Sun Briar. Sun Mixa is the dam of the winners Winning Bid, Sunny Vale, and the stakes winning Fertile Lands. These yearlings will give you an idea of the quality of the stock that is raised at Brookmeade, as they are good representatives of the entire group.

In order to have yearlings of this quality, the broodmares have to be above average. Through the years Mrs. Sloane has culled, bought, and sold matrons, until at the present time her band, which numbers about 30, is of the best. About half of them are sent to Kentucky to be bred to stallions in and around Lexington, while the remainder are bred either on, or near, Brookmeade. These mares are by such stallions as *Blenheim II, Blue Larkspur, High Quest, *Gino, *Challenger II, Pompey, Cavalcade, War Admiral, *Bull Lea, The Porter, John P. Grier, Menow, *Sir Gallahad III, and *Mahmoud. This blood represents the power behind the throne at Brookmeade Farm and is largely responsible for Mrs. Sloane being one of the "First Ladies" of the turf.

A stallion that has been somewhat overlooked, and whose stud fee is most reasonable, can be found at Brookmeade Farm. I am referring to Star Beacon, whose 2-year-olds of 1949 put him among the top 20 stallions in the country for having the most wins. As the majority of yearling buyers go for quick maturing 2-year-olds, it is surprising that Star Beacon's book isn't filled for 1951. He is a young horse and extremely well bred; if his get continue on the scale set by the 1949 2-year-olds, there will be a lot of breeders who will wish they had been in on the ground floor. He is by *Blenheim II, which was the winner of the Derby, New Hopeful, Champagne, and Middle Park Stakes. *Blenheim II is the sire of outstanding horses in four countries—England, France, Italy, and The United States. He was the leading sire in America in 1941, 2nd in 1943, and among the leading sires in England. He is the sire of Whirlaway, *Mahmoud, Donatello II, etc.—also he is the sire of the dams of Coaltown, Wistful and Ponder. Star Beacon's dam is the *Wrack mare, Fair Star, which won the Pimlico Futurity and Selima Stakes, among her many victories. She is also the dam of a stakes winner, besides producing many winners, which in turn have produced stakes winners galore. Star Beacon's second dam, Etoile Filante, although unraced, was of stakes class, as she is the producer of such as High Quest (Preakness, Wood Memorial Stakes, etc.), Evening Tide (winner of the Saratoga Test Stakes, and producer, including Evening Shadow, which is dam of stakes winner Hampden). She is also the granddam of Slide Rule (10 wins, $133,760, including many stakes). A pedigree just filled with top horses, therefore the statement that he is somewhat overlooked.

DID YOU KNOW?

That a total of 420 dead heats were posted during 1949, the second highest number on record. Of this number, 125 were to win, 93 to place, 122 to show and 70 for 4th ence, which means that Citation is getting a 5-pound pull in the weights for a whisker defeat. If that is harsh treatment then I don't know the meaning of the word "harsh." Whether or not Citation will go post-ward, I don't know, but in view of all this it doesn't seem possible he will be left in the barn purely on the question of weight. We will leave the matter there, but from where I sit it certainly appears the Calumet champion has, not the worst of things, but a little the best of them, at least as far as this event is concerned.

Things are going rather well at Tanforan. When racing moved up north to that track, which is a very easy drive from the center of the city of San Francisco, it was thought that the usual blustery spring weather and the tightening of purse strings would see a continuation of the downward trend in attendance and betting. But it hasn't proved true. A mild and balmy spring has brought out ever increasing crowds of race-minded San Franciscans to this popular track and the handle is running well ahead of previous meetings. So well are things going that the management has been able to up the purses, including the doubling of the Tanforan Handicap to a value of $50,000. The Calumet stable is, of course, a big attraction and the appearance of Citation, Ponder, Two Lea and Charlie Howards' *Noor should provide some excellent racing and an even better showing for the track before the meeting draws to a close.

Ponder had little difficulty in picking up a nice purse recently. He did it at the expense of a small field, but his manner of going was impressive and indicated he is ready to give *Noor a run for his money even without the help of Two Lea and Citation.

On Trust returned to winning form when he scored cleverly from Bolero and Great Dream in the 6-furlong Peninsula Handicap. In taking this event the good chestnut son of *Alibhai pushed his all-time earnings over the $500,000 mark, and will no doubt add to this staggering sum before the year is much older.

An item of interest to breeders and owners is the estimated value of the next running of the Santa Anita Maturity in January of 1951. As of Jan. 1 of this year, 91 of the current crop of 3-year-olds were kept eligible, and it is expected that the gross purse will reach the fabulous sum of something around $263,000. If 18 colts should face the starter it is estimated the winner will draw down about $198,000 net; $20,000, second; $15,000, third; $10,000, fourth. The nominators of the winner, 2nd, 3rd and 4th will money. The remainder were for out-of-the-money placings.

Middleburg Feature To *Irish Monkey

Largest Brush Field of 1950 Season
Faces Starter In Mary Mellon 'Chase;
Extra Annexes Co-feature Over Hurdles

Nancy G. Lee

While amateur riders and trainers almost worked up a sweat about the new step taken by the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association to amend the Rules of Racing, the second day for the 29th Spring Race Meeting of The Middleburg Hunt Race Association, Inc., dawned clear and "moderately warm". People who were attending the meeting for the first time were pleasantly surprised to find that April 22 in Middleburg, Va. did not run true to form—it was a good day for racing.

A check with J. E. Cooper, secretary of the N. S. H. A., showed that no starvation diets faced the amateur riders because the amendment to the Rules of Racing, stating that no longer will amateur riders be permitted to carry more than 5 pounds overweight, applies only to the major tracks, not to hunt meetings.

With a 1950 fall meeting out, Middleburg moved the Mary Mellon Steeplechase over to its second day of spring racing and shortened the distance by 1-2 mile. Eleven horses faced Starter Robert B. Young and this was the largest brush field to start at the hunt meetings thus far this year. Stakes winners, winners and Mrs. Beverley Bryant's versatile Silver Duck made up the starters but the latter decided he needed a school before the flag dropped so he gave Mr. Robert Motch a quick one over the rail and then returned to the starting point.

The start was a bit ragged as the 11 horses were off but Jockey M. Ferral and Mrs. J. E. Madden's Page County were not caught napping and followed their routine of going out to establish the pace. This pair won The Dresden over brush at Middleburg the previous Saturday. Jockey T. Field had Rokeby Stables' stakes winning Genanoke right behind Page County over the 1st jump in front of the grandstand and as the field galloped down hill, through the bottom and uphill toward the 2nd, the late starters were closing in on the pack.

Jockey Ferral was really saving ground with Page County and appeared to be making his turn in mid-air to land on the shortest trip to the next jump. On top of the hill by the farm house, it was still Page County with Jockey E. Carter on Irl A. Daffin's *Irish Monkey and then Genanoke. Jockey Ferral did not show any hesitation at the gap this time (as he did the week before) and it was just as well because he had 10 horses right behind him. The 6th is a water jump and the leaders were the same with J. L. B. Bentley's Ums in for 4th. After the 8th jump the field was strung out and *Irish Monkey had cut Page County's lead down to 1 1-2 lengths but over the jump, Jockey Ferral again saved ground. The Liverpool and the next was the 10th with just one more to go. At the 10th, Page County went down. Jockey Carter and *Irish Monkey were battling for the lead with Jockey A. P. Smithwick on C. M. Kline's winner on April 15 at Middleburg, Irish Oyster. Irish Oyster was bumped going into the 11th and last and crossed his front legs, giving Jockey Smithwick a few rough seconds. The field was over and the long downhill drive began. *Irish Monkey had a slight advantage over the last jump and as he raced toward the finish, he continued to increase his lead, winning by 4 lengths with Irish Oyster 2nd and Jockey C. Harr 3rd on Pedagogue.

Trainer F. Bellhouse switched the 3-year-old The Creek from the flat ranks (where he won on the 15th) to the hurdles and Jockey E. Carter applied his same tactics—break on top and stay there. There are only 6 hurdles in The Wanquepin, about 1 1-2 miles, and the horses had plenty of running space between hurdles. Over the 5th hurdle Jockey J. Murphy sent R. K. Mellon's *Irish Easter (which had placed behind The Creek on the flat) to take over the pace but The Creek soon regained his lead and headed for the stretch run. Jockey A. P. Smithwick had been well up on the pace on C. M. Kline's Hywhinnion and as the horses entered the stretch, the race was between The Creek and Hywhinnion. The finish was so close that opinions were varied but the official finish was The Creek, Hywhinnion with *Irish Easter 3rd.

The Gerald B. Webb, Jr. Memorial had two years' running over timber but with the elimination of a timber event at the fall meeting in 1949, it was relegated to the hurdle ranks. A small field of 5 went postward and Jockey A. P. Smithwick, who was riding Owner-trainer W. B. Cocks' Extra, assumed an early lead. Over the 4th he was still on top with Irl A. Daffin's Crayon, W. C. Robinson, Jr.'s Crown Royal and F. Ambrose Clark's Night Patrol jumping as a team ahead of Rokeby Stables' *Kabul. Around the turn and over the 5th, Crown Royal, which has chalked up 3 victories and a 2nd this year, overjumped, landing in the hurdle and took brush and boards with him as he fell. Extra jumped well over the 2 remaining hurdles and won by 2 1-2 lengths ahead of Crayon with Night Patrol 3rd and *Kabul 4th.

Rokeby Stables' Crooning Wind, which had run on the flat at Warrenton, went out to establish the pace in the Panther Skin which was about 2 miles over brush. With Jockey L. Charron riding, Crooning Wind went off followed by I. Bieber's first time starter, Courage Road which was ridden by Jockey O. A. Brown. Wednesday before the 22nd, Mr. Dinwiddie Lampton was on hand to school E. W. Dozier, Jr.'s Ballyskylight as the grey is a potential starter in the Iroquois Memorial to be run next month in Nashville, Tenn. Mr. Lampton was well up on the pace when the field reached the 2nd jump and then he was out as a lost rider. Ballyskylight continued to run with the field and at the 5th and 6th, he was bothering the leading Crooning Wind. W. J. Strawbridge's *Land's Corner which had devised a new form of jumping a liverpool with Mr. M. Smithwick at Deep Run, had shown slight symptoms of the same in this race with Mr. E. Weymouth. However, the pair made the first turn of the course and at the 7th they were leading Crooning Wind and L. C. Williams' Pilgrims Way.

Pilgrims Way moved into 2nd position over the 8th and after this jump, H. A. Dunn's Hitchhiker, which had been trailing, was pulled up by Jockey J. Cotter, Jr. *Land's Corner was still leading at the liverpool (9th) with Pilgrims Way, F. Ambrose Clark's Greens Keeper and C. M. Kline's *Tolbiac following in that order. Jockey A. P. Smithwick had schooled *Tolbiac over the liverpool on Wednesday and the bay gelding did not repeat his refusal performances of the first day at Middleburg.

Jockey C. Harr made his move on Pilgrims Way going into the 10th and during the run to the 11th and last and in the stretch drive, he was not headed, winning by 3 lengths in front of *Tolbiac and *Land's Corner.

In the course of Holland's far-flung operations through 400 direct factory branches, this thoroughly trained organization is called upon to deal with every conceivable factor in heating—the variable range of climatic conditions across the country—the individual heating situations of over seven million customers—the innumerable fuels that go the whole scale from the plainsman's cow chips, the woodsman's cordwood and sawdust, the farmer's corn cobs on through the different gases, oils and coals. The practical, realistic understanding of heating thus gained is the answer to Holland's being the world's largest in its specialized field. what constitutes a straight line when they broke in The Covert for the about 1-mile run on the flat. Jockey A. P. Smithwick went out to chalk up his second victory for the afternoon as he sent C. M. Kline's Easter Vigil to the top. The pair was followed by R. K. Mellon's former show hunter, Arctic Fox which was ridden by Jockey C. Harr. Easter Vigil and Arctic Fox continued to be the leaders until the field rounded the turn into the stretch and here Easter Vigil held his lead. Jockey J. Murphy moved into 2nd on Mrs. H. A. May, Jr.'s Smoky City with Jockey C. Williams next on Paul Vipond's *Friese. Arctic Fox and Jockey Harr tried for an opening, only to find it closed and they finished 4th.

The brush, hurdle and flat horses will have a rest as only timber horses stand in the limelight for the Maryland Hunt Cup tomorrow.

Timber Enthusiasm Prevails In Maryland
As 13 Go Postward In Grand National
Point-to-Point; Our Cowboy Breaks Maiden

Karl Koontz

On April 22, from high on the pine-dotted hill, the Grand National Course at Butler, Md., spread out across the green carpeted Western Run Valley below. Rains earlier in the week had brought out all the color in nature, and the 18 timber fences stood out boldly in the warm afternoon sunlight.

To those who have worked and perserved to keep timber racing alive during the "lean" years, when it was an effort to find enough horses to fill a race, and performances were not the best, this was to be a day after which it could be said, "a job worth doing". Nineteen entries were received in the Grand National Point-to-Point and 4th running for the William F. Cochran, Jr. Memorial Challenge Cup.

Thirteen horses went postward, all fenced well, with 12 finishing; timed in 6.17 2-5, just 2 seconds over the course record set by Lawrence E. Jones' Cliftons Duke, when in 1947 he defeated Winton by about a length.

Those out to add the National "star" to their "crown" included: *Done Sleeping, winner of the Virginia Gold Cup at Warrenton, Va. This was the first Maryland outing for the English-bred gelded son of Rondo—Sleepy Essex, by Essexford, since he and Mr. Smithwick teamed up to win the John Rush Streett Memorial last year. *Philstar, triumphant in the John Rush Streett Memorial this year, was making his second start between flags. Our Hobo, victor in the My Ladies Manor Point-to-Point and Cheshire Bowl at Mr. Stewart's Cheshire Foxhounds Point-to-Point went postward. Charoton, winner of the Rokeby Bowl, was out for his second start between the flags. From the My Lady's Manor race came, Roxspur, Captain Black, Curwick Tim, Merrily, Edward M, Irish Tip, from Middleburg; Cliftons Dan, and Barrier, from Elkridge-Harford Point-to-Point and Dominique You. So at a glance it could be seen that all were well qualified to make this a good race.

With jockeys up, at 4:04 the horses began the long parade along the bottom of the hill to the post, out in the country. With very little delay they were lined up and away, well bunched, with all over the 1st safely. Into the 2nd Owner-rider-trainer George H. C. Arrowsmith's Barrier, a nice grey gelding, moved to the top followed by Roxspur, with the field bunched closely together and jumping well. Over the 5th Barrier had lengthened his lead, followed by Merrily, Edward M, Captain Black, Irish Tip, Curwick Tim, Our Hobo, Cliftons Dan, Charoton, *Philstar, Roxspur, *Done Sleeping, and Dominique You.

Seeing Barrier on top, and jumping boldly, it brought to mind an incident that happened after the Elkridge-Harford Point-to-Point. In discussing the race George Arrowsmith related how he had suddenly taken his horse back when he found he was in 2nd position. As he put it, "I don't belong in front of those good riders", so he took back and let Mr. Janney on *Philstar go by and then followed. However, in the Grand National he was showing the way over the timber, and held the lead until after the 6th when he started to come back to the field.

Over the 7th, Barrier and Our Hobo were leading, but going to the 8th Our Hobo took over from Barrier, with Captain Black and Edward M following. Over the 9th and into the 10th, the water jump, the field was Our Hobo, Barrier, Captain Black, Edward M, Irish Tip, Curwick Tim, *Done Sleeping, Merrily, *Philstar, Cliftons Dan, Roxspur, Charoton and Dominique You.

Barrier moved to Our Hobo at the 11th and they were over together, but Barrier had shot his bolt and started to drop back, while Edward M, *Done Sleeping, and *Philstar were closing up. Into the 15th Edward M went to the top followed by *Done Sleeping, Our Hobo, Captain Black, *Philstar, Roxspur, Barrier, Irish Tip, Merrily, Charoton, Curwick Tim, and Dominique You. Cliftons Dan was shut off at the 14th fence and didn't see it, and fell, with Mr. Brewster taking the bridle with him as they parted company.

Over the 15th it was Edward M. Mrs. B. H. Griswold, III's color-bearer, with Mr. B. H. Griswold up, *Done Sleeping in pursuit. Mr. Griswold has been a fine supporter of timber racing this spring with Ed-

Foxhall Keene Trophy Revived At Radnor Point-to-Point

Frank Eaves

Tossed from her gray mare, Oxmoor Cherry, when it collided with Martha Bishop's Beauzera, Mrs. John B. Hannum, 3rd remounted, trailed far to the rear of the 4-horse field and came in the winner of the ladies' race, feature of the 14th annual running of the Radnor Hunt Club's point-to-point races, held at Malvern, Pa. on April 8.

Mrs. Hannum and the Bishop entry, the last to clear the outgoing jump of the 4 mile course, collided when Beauzera refused the timber. Miss Bishop withdrew Beauzera from the race after the refusal.

At the wire, after a 5 length lead by Oxmoor Cherry, Mrs. John C. West, riding Wellaway, for owner Miss Lorine Eshleman and Mrs. Charles Cann, mounted on Happy Bucky for Owner Thomas Glennon, finished in a dead heat for place position.

Mrs. Joseph Walker, after a gallant dash for the top three positions, finished a length to the rear of the dead heat winners on her entry Farm Belle.

The Radnor Hunt Point-to-Point, 4 miles across hunting country, went to Mrs. John Strawbridge's Moonbeam, ridden by Donald Jacobs.

Moonbeam commanded a 5 length lead over the 11 horse field after swiftly moving up in the last mile run. C. Paul Denckla, up on his Red Nibs hit the clay after the entry made a miss-step while crossing a roadway on the way into the club's grounds.

Winner of the heavy weight division of this contest was University of Pennsylvania's football coach, George Munger, riding his aged Topper.

Lawrence F. Jones' The Chairman, ridden by B. King, was the place taker of the Radnor Point-to-Point with Cross Creek, owned and ridden by E. H. Quigley, pressing hard for the show.

The renewed Foxhall Keene Trophy, offered for hunt teams, went to the late W. Plunket Stewart's Cheshire Hounds. The team composed of Cowboy, ridden by Franklin L. Gordon; Bright Lantern, mounted by John B. Hannum, 3rd; and Doughboy, ridden by Robert M. Tindle, outpointed the Radnor Hunt Club's team.

ward M, Battery B, and Identity, carrying the Griswold colors. Also on lease to him is Jay Secor's Bomber which has not started to date. One cannot help but think as Mr. Griswold rode Battery B, at the Manor and Edward M at the National, perhaps it's Bombers turn for the Maryland.

*Done Sleeping was out to get Edward M and nailed him just a little before the 18th fence to come on and win by about 4 lengths. *Philstar, which had shown a very good effort for his second start beat out Captain Black, which had raced near the pace most of the way, for 3rd. Our Hobo, Roxspur, Irish Tip, Merrily, Charoton, Barrier, Dominique You, and Curwick Tim, completed the field.

This was *Done Sleeping's first race over big fences in Maryland, and he handled the situation very well, to prove he can jump and that he will be a definite threat for the Maryland Hunt Cup. Mr. M. Smithwick, who rode the winner, had the misfortune to wrench his knee before the race but still gave his mount a very cool, heady ride.

Ten entries were received for the 2nd running of the Western Run Plate (won last year by Miss Elizabeth C. Bosley's Count Stefan) with 6 maidens going to the post. After landing over the 17th and last fence Mr. S. Pfefferkorn, Jr. on Crack Lad and Mr. H. Wiley on War Fever went to the whip up the stretch, but Mr. Hannum gave his wife's brown gelding Our Cowboy a strong hand ride with vigorous use of his heels to win. With a good start the 6 horses were over the 1st fence well bunched, with Our Cowboy taking the lead into the 2nd, followed by Identity, War Fever, Little Springs, Westy Low, and Crack Lad. Over the 3rd and 4th, Identity was on top, as Our Cowboy dropped back to last, with Little Springs in 2nd place.

They continued in this order until the 6th where Little Springs went down with Mr. T. Aitcheson, Jr. Along in back of the house, over the 7th and into the 8th, Identity was still leading, with War Fever moving up. Identity, which had tried to refuse all around the course, finally put in a nasty stop and flipped Mr. D. Brewster to the terra firma. War Fever then went out to quite a long lead followed by Westy Low, Crack Lad, and Our Cowboy. The order remained about the same until at the 15th, Westy Low went down with Mr. G. Glenn and Our Cowboy took the lead from War Fever, followed by Crack Lad. Over the 16th and into the 17th and last, Our Cowboy was still on top, with Crack Lad taking War Fever, for 2nd. In the stretch Crack Lad was moving to Our Cowboy, but couldn't catch him in time, as War Fever brought up the rear.

Even after the races were over some people still sat on the hill and enjoyed the view on this peaceful, sunny afternoon, and perhaps thought of the Maryland to be run on the 29th and their favorite's chances.

keep Absorbine

Shelton S. Dodson, famous steeplechase jockey, of Middleburg, Va., says: "Working with horses for years I've found it's always good to have Absorbine handy. It helps relieve bruises, puffs, and strains. I also use it for rubdowns after hard workouts."

Accidents can result in lay-ups. Many experienced horsemen use Absorbine to help relieve bruises, puffs, and strains. Usually, when fast-acting Absorbine is rubbed on as soon as injury occurs, it brings relief in a few hours! N. M. M. I. Bronco Polo Team Defeats Stanford University

Suzanne Norton

Bouncing back from their heart-breaking NCAA tournament defeat, the N. M. M. I. Bronco polo team outfought and outrode a Stanford University quintet to capture the twin game series on the outdoor polo field in Roswell, N. M. 10-9, Friday, March 31, and 9-8 Saturday, April 1.

Friday's game caused near heart failure for local fans as the game went into the sudden death over-

Allen Scherer who hit paydirt with the lone visitor's score in the third.

In last half of the game both teams finally settled down to show some top polo with the lead changing time and time again.

The fourth period ended a tie, 7-7; N. M. M. I. was ahead 8-7 going into the sixth, the regular playing time of the game ended with the score 9-9. Then came the action loaded overtime period with the final institute tally 10-9.

The final period was a little indicative of how the breaks can go in polo. Bill Decker landed a solid blow on the ball, but it hit a horse's hoof and bounced back in the opposite direction, landing squarely in

Squadron A Polo Will Be Outdoors At Blind Brook

Bill Goodrich

The Squadron A association—long a guiding figure in indoor polo—assumes a new role this summer.

Headed by Lt. Col. Robert Ranlet, Jr., NYNG, the association will operate outdoor polo at the Blind Brook Polo Club, Port Chester, N. Y. Final papers giving the organization title for one year, with an option for 1951, were signed by George Oliver two weeks ago. Oliver dropped out of the picture to devote as 30-50 players will be available for a full summer of polo. The season is scheduled to open May 21. Teams from the Meadow Brook Club, Bostwick Field, Pittsfield, Fairfield and Fort Hamilton will be invited to exchange games with Squadron A.

No tournaments are planned for the present. An all out effort will be made by the committee to give Blind Brook as near the "tops" in competition as player availability will allow. The season looks promising.

Alan Corey, Jr., 8-goal Internationalist, is back on Long Island after weeks of spirited play at Aiken, S. C. Corey is looking ahead to a better season of polo at the KINGPINS—The Brooklyn Polo Club won the 23rd National Senior Indoor polo championship at the Squadron A armory, New York. Buddy Combs, No. 2, of the victorious Brooklyn trio receives trophy from Mrs. Robert Ranlet, Jr., wife of Lt. Col. Ranlet, commanding officer First Battalion, 101st Armored Cavalry Division, Light. Selden Heatley, head of the Brooklyn Polo Club, Bud Heatley, No. 1, Ray Harrington, back, and George C. time period. Allen Scherer of Stanford broke loose with the ball, but narrowly missed the uprights. On the bring-in-shot the N. M. M. I. teamwork landed the ball squarely in front of Buddy Baca who raced it down field and calmly poked it through for the winning goal.

This game winning goal was the only score made by Baca who up to the final chukker had been kept well at heel by the Stanford No. 1.

Allen Ross' Stanford players broke loose in the first by banging across 3 goals before the Bronco players had settled down to playing. At the end of the first period, the score stood 3-0. It well looked as though the Stanford players, out-playing and outriding the Cadets would tally the games with a 1-1 split.

By the second chukker the cadets finally began to settle down with Bill Fumagalli No. 2 breaking the ice for the first Cadet scoring and Rube Evans following up by netting 2 more goals.

At half-time the cadets had taken a 6-5 lead over Stanford. Fumagalli continued his torrid pace by scoring the 3 tallies, with a beautiful 40-yard off-fore, a 60-yard penalty shot and a tap-in setup just for the cause.

The Stanford first half scorers were Bill Decker, captain of the Stanford Indians who hit 2, Lynn Madlender who chalked up 2 and front of number 4 for the Cadets, Buddy Baca. Baca carried the ball downfield but under the pressure by the opposition couldn't squeeze the ball through.

Allen Scherer of Stanford carried the game into the overtime period by racking up two fast markers in the scant final seconds of the game.

The second game lacked nothing as far as action was concerned. Actually the Broncos played a better game than in the first contest. More teamwork and heads-up playing was evident in every way.

The Cadet took the lead in the second game, were tied, but never behind. Stanford showed a good team that could undoubtedly be in the NCAA tourney in 1951.

Cadet Bill Fumagalli was the high-point man at the end of the series, chalking up 9 goals. Allen Scherer, No. 3 man for the Indians, was second with 7 points. Bill Decker scored 6, Phil Taggart and Rube Evans of the Institute each scored 4. Lynn Madlender chalked up 3 points, Baca hit 2 and Mickey Seeley of Stanford had 1.

As a result of these games the NMMI—Stanford perpetual trophy will remain in the hands of the Cadets until this fall when it could stay with the Cadets permanently, if they can catch the next games between the schools this fall.

much time as he can to a Florida ranching project with Mike Phipps.

Active and ex-members of the association will have the use of horses for hacking at Blind Brook. Outside players are welcome to play and stable their horses at Blind Brook, it was announced.

Al Parsells, long be associated with Oliver, and, who managed the Squadron A stables during the past indoor season, assumes the same position at Blind Brook.

Meadow Brook club. Practice games will probably start in mid-May with polo opening to the public May 28.

Buddy Combs, Bud Heatley and Ray Harrington, National indoor senior winners, are scheduled to ride with Dick Metcalf, at the Rumson Polo Club this summer.

Selden Heatley, father of Bud and operator of the Brooklyn Polo Club, which stimulated played indoors on two fronts in New York for the first time since 1938, has his eye on a Smithtown, L. I. operation.

Jack and Ray Monahan, who helped polo back at Fort Hamilton last summer, are getting set to operate. So is Walter Scanlon at Bethpage.

Scion of Almost A Million

Stymie, the world's leading money winner with $918,485 to his credit, was bred to only two outside mares in 1949, one of them being the maiden mare Pinch. Pinch, by *Sickle—*Nipisiquit, by Buchan, is owned by Trainer J. T. Skinner at whose stable in Middleburg, Va. Stymie wintered.

Foaled on March 19, Stymie's first colt foal was pictured when he was only 9 days old. As photogenic as his sire was and also as interested in the cameraman, the colt promptly went into action before the camera clicked the first time. Making a mad dash toward the camera, he swerved just in front of it and went galloping off toward his dam. He repeated this performance numerous times until he stopped to "chat" with his groom, Buck Bland, and his frivolities for the afternoon were over.

Pinch and her colt have been shipped to Doc. J. P. Jones' farm near Charlottesville, Va. where she will visit the court of Air Hero.

When the 1951 yearling sales' consignments are listed, the colt by Stymie—Pinch will be included to be sold to the highest bidder.

PHILADELPHIA'S JUMPERS

George Orton of Rose Tree is touting Philadelphia's big meeting on May 20th again this year and it looks as if he has every right to sing its praises for Pennsylvania horses have been the biggest bright spots in the southern hunt meeting circuit. Horses from the Philadelphia area have been consistently capturing the major awards. Done Sleeping with his victory in the Virginia Gold Cup put a big feather in the cap of Philadelphia trainer Burling Cocks, while Thomas Stokes' Never Worry, a good Pennsylvania hunter was but a head off the winner at Warrenton.

C. M. Kline of Philadelphia won with Rialto over hurdles at both Richmond and Middleburg while his Irish Oyster captured the William Skinner Memorial Steeplechase feature. The Cortwright Wetherills' Adaptable, also from Philadelphia went off with the Warrenton brush feature while William J. Strawberry's Land's Corner has done well over hurdles, starting the season with his victory at Camden. Final touch to Pennsylvania's highly successful leadership in 1950 hunt meetings was made at Maryland's first big timber feature, when John Hannum and Our Hobo made a winning combination for one of the finest efforts of their joint timber careers at the My Lady's Manor, feature. William J. Clothier's Pine Pep, last year's Maryland winner, is one of the favorites for the race this year and showed top form at Middleburg, being only beaten a head in the Louis Leith Memorial.

FRENCH IMPORTS

The steeplechasing division of Thoroughbred racing was further strengthened last week with the arrival of two French jumpers, Palaja, a four-year-old chestnut gelding by Olmedo—Paros 2nd, and Spleen, a dark brown three-year-old colt by Mehemet Ali—Nostalgie. The pair were imported via air transport by Justin Funkhouser of Charles Town, W. Va., and will be run in his colors in coming stake events at Belmont Park, opening May 6.

Palaja, a winner over hurdles and brush at the recent Pau and Auteuil race meetings in France, will be named for the brush tests, and Spleen will be the stable's hope for the National Maiden Stake series. A non-winner abroad, the latter has put in some creditable races over the smaller obstacles.

The pair will supplement Auftakt, Kokarde, Rosenlaude and Wingy all belonging to this recent chasing owner. All are German imports obtained from the recent U. S. Army Remount dispersal except for Wingy.

WELL FINISHED HORSES

Condition is of the utmost importance, and never more so than racing a horse over 3 or 4 miles of country over timber. There is a fine horseman at Unionville, Pennsylvania who has been helping Mrs. John B. Hannum 3rd, condition the horses her husband, John Hannum has been riding over timber this year. He is John Cully who has so far conditioned the horse that won the Cheshire Bowl with Mrs. Hannum up, the Radnor Team race, My Lady's Manor, second although disqualified in the secondary race at My Lady's Manor and 1st in the secondary race at the Grand National. Our Hobo, Our Cowboy, and Bright Lantern, that have all been given excellent rides this year by Mr. Hannum, are good examples of what condition means in timber racing.

OVERWEIGHT FOR AMATEURS

Word comes from the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association that there will be an amendment to the rules of racing for amateur riders. There has been no limit to the amount of overweight amateurs might carry. It was felt this is confusing to the general public and the amendment will read, therefore, that no amateur may carry more than 5 lbs. overweight. This change will in effect put both amateurs and professionals on the same basis as far as overweight at big tracks.

HIGHER AIRS

California is now in the midst of its top notch horse shows stressing dressage and Olympic type classes. One of the first shows on this circuit is that of Mrs. Rosalind T. Johnson who is a strong advocate of better riding technique and who put on for the second year her Oak Grove Equitation meet on the Flint-ridge Grounds last week. So strongly does Mrs. Johnson feel about the possibilities of better made horses, that she challenged Major de Roaldes to a horsemanship competition to demonstrate riding technique. Mrs. Johnson believes the American stock horse, when carefully trained is closely allied to the higher equitation of European schools. She recently offered to do an average dressage routine with any well trained stock horse without further training and in a stock saddle if an owner would furnish the horse. It is not known whether her offer has been accepted.

JOCKEY LICENSES

The Board of Stewards of the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association granted 61 licenses to owners, trainers, jockeys and amateur riders at their April meeting. Among the jockey licenses was one to Richard Gough, leading steeplechase rider in England and Ireland for several seasons.

FALL AT BECHER'S

Rumors flew about last week that Danny Marzani, one of this country's best 'chasing' jocks would not be able to ride again as a result of his fall at Becher's Brook in the National. Very fortunately such is not the case. Marzani came home on the Queen Elizabeth and will be out of the saddle until some time in the middle of the Belmont Spring meeting. He suffered a cracked vertebra.

GORDON GRAND

Tireless in his love of horses, of foxhunting and of the way of men with horses and hounds, Gordon Grand was an inspiration to all of his many friends. His death on April 18th has left a gap in the sporting world, a gap made by the imprint of a vivid personality, a lovable character, and an articulate voice which enriched immeasurably the pages of sporting literature in our time. To say that Gordon Grand will be missed is to say faint words of praise for a grand man. To say that he will be remembered as long as mankind loves sport and appreciates what others do and say of them is but giving a fine author and a great horseman small tribute for the doing and writing of fine things that others will always enjoy.

MR. CHENERY REELECTED

Members of the Virginia Horsemen's Association gathered at Warrenton on Friday for the annual meeting and reelected C. T. Chenery of Doswell as President of the Association. Mr. Chenery is perhaps even better known to the sporting world as the owner of Hill Prince, than as the President of Virginia's Horsemen's Association, but in his two year term of office, he has done a great deal to develop the interests of the Association and make it a constructive force for the good of the horse activities of the Old Dominion. The meeting closed with a good talk on pasture development and a moving picture of the miracles man has achieved with the development of its livestock through the years.

BLACK GANG'S PARTY

There are parties and parties, but last Friday, Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Randolph, changed the tempo, and gave one, not for a debutante daughter, a distant relative or a northern visitor, but for a handsome son of War Admiral, now standing at their Old Welbourne Farm at Upperville. All the neighbors were invited and the good looking brown horse was paraded before the guests, behaving himself as only a son of his famous father and of Baby's Breath, by *Sickle should behave. The grey son of *Gino and three of his progeny, were also introduced to the guests who then retired inside to discover how many seconds Black Gang really did take off the track record for 6 furlongs in his 2 year old year.

ORANGE COUNTY HUNT CLUB PUPPY SHOW

The Orange County Hunt Club held their annual puppy show on Sunday, April 16 at the hunt kennels near The Plains, Va. The judges were D. C. Sands, Joint-M. F. H. of Middleburg Hunt and Sidney Waters. The 11 1-2 couple in the show had just been brought in from where they had been at walk and the principal prizes went to the walkers whose puppies showed the best condition and manners.

The championship of the show was won by Jerico (Bantry '44—Jezabel '41) walked by Mrs. Edward Soper. Best of the opposite sex was Mistress (Actor '47—Mirabel '45) walked by Mrs. J. R. Luncford.

Letters To the Editor

duction of the velvet cap, as it was a distinction in the Field for the Master, hunt servants, and farmer, however, this was to no avail.

I would quite definitely state the velvet cap has become generally worn by young ladies riding astride, because they have kept to their childhood pattern of dress, owing to the fact that they have never learned to ride side saddle. Had ladies carried on by using the side saddle a velvet cap would not have been suitable headgear.

The styles seen in England out hunting these days, I hope are not copied by our American cousins. The reason undoubtedly is this—in these days all sorts of people hunt who have no real idea how to dress. Business men from the towns in tweed jackets, caps, jodhpurs, string gloves, brown ankle boots, looking as though they might belong to a stage circus.

The A. H. S. A. officials mentioned by Mrs. Amory Lawrence have most probably taken note of these things—hence the fuss. I wonder what some of your readers may think now.

Very sincerely yours,

Harold Chambers
